

West Coast is ushering in the new year with a new website and a new look! We are excited to share our love of events with you at www.wcep.com. Just launched today, our new site features a comprehensive list of the services we provide, a spotlight on new products, and of course an abundance of great photographs from our portfolio of events. Be sure to check out these exciting new features and many more at the new www.wcep.com, or you can click on our Quick Links to the right.

We have exciting plans for 2008, full of fresh products and creative ideas. In January, we visited the Special Events Tradeshow and the Atlanta Gift Show in Atlanta, Georgia with a commitment to providing our clients with the most up-to-date and innovative products that the industry has to offer. We look forward to working with you in 2008. Cheers!

Please note, if you are sent to the old site when clicking on the above links, you may need to clean out your computer's cache. This can be achieved by clearing your Internet browser's history or resetting your computer's DNS record. Since each browser/computer is different, we suggest searching your computer's preferences or the Internet to complete these steps. If you still are not able to view the new site, please contact Jessica Smith at (503)481-4780.*
